emlyon business school invites applications for a professor position (all levels) in health economics or health analytics (data science, decision theory, policy evaluation, …). Applications are invited from highly motivated candidates who have demonstrated research excellence or significant potential in these fields. The appointment begins in September 2024.

The selected candidate will be affiliated and collaborate with our existing team in the Department of Quantitative Finance and Economics, and will grow and extend research and teaching in relation to the new HITS institute (Healthcare Innovation, Technology & Society). The selected candidate may also join GATE-Lyon-Saint-Etienne, a joint research group with CNRS, University of Lyon 2, and University of Saint-Etienne. Research topics of interest include demand and supply of healthcare, cost-effectiveness analysis, manufacturing and delivery of health products and services, incentives to invest in healthcare innovation, efficiency and distributional effects of healthcare management, regulation, or policy. The related topics currently studied at emlyon, across several academic departments, include health insurance behavior, industrial organization of research and development, modelling of healthcare pathways, optimization of medicine supply chains and logistics, and application of artificial intelligence to biology. We welcome theoretical and empirical approaches and are open to different methods with a keen focus on quality and impact in research.

Teaching responsibilities for this position include the ability to design and manage courses in the areas of health economics and/or health analytics, and candidates who are able and willing to teach topics beyond their core expertise will be favored. Teaching opportunities will be mostly at the graduate level (Master in Management / ‘Programme Grande Ecole’ and MSc in Health Management & Data Intelligence) and in Executive Education (open and in-company programmes). Teaching will be delivered mainly at our campus in Lyon but can also be delivered on the school’s other campuses (e.g., Paris).

JOB REQUIREMENT

We are looking for candidates with the following characteristics:

- Ph.D. / doctorate degree in economics or related area. For candidates who do not have yet their PhD, the defense should take place in 2024.
- Evidence of research and teaching excellence with demonstrated ability to publish in the highest ranked journals (e.g., FT list).
- Proven capacity to take on courses’ pedagogical responsibilities, including the ability to manage a portfolio of external lecturers.
- A strong interest in developing collective research and teaching projects, and genuine desire to collaborate in a collegial and dynamic team.
- For senior applicants, desire and ability to support junior level researchers and/or supervise doctoral students, and/or to raise funds for research.
- Energy, dynamism, and demonstrated personal/professional ethical values, in line with emlyon’s status as a benefit corporation (“société à mission”).
The candidate will be expected to contribute to and will be regularly evaluated based on three areas of activities: (1) research performance, (2) teaching and student supervision, and (3) institutional service (e.g., contribution to Faculty development, service in committees, mentoring, …).

Fluency and teaching experience in English is required; French skills are not required. People of all backgrounds (gender, ethnic background, nationality, sexual orientation) are strongly encouraged to apply. The selected candidate is expected to be based in Lyon or nearby area (the school has set-up a relocation policy to support the moving process).

Salary and conditions are competitive and will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

THE SCHOOL

Founded in 1872 by the Lyon CCI, emlyon business school has an enrollment of 9,050 students of 125 nationalities. It draws on a Faculty of 166 international professors and researchers, and a network of 200 global academic partners, to provide learning tracks of excellence opened to the world. emlyon business school runs a community of 41,700 alumni spread out in 130 countries. As a Société à Mission since July 2021, emlyon business school’s raison d’être consists in: “providing life-long training and support to meaningful individuals able to transform organizations, for a fairer society, with more solidarity and respect for the planet.” In its early makers pedagogy, action and reflection are closely intertwined.
